Students to Brighten 'Y' With Whitewash, Work

Whitewash, elbow grease, and torchlight will be used to "brighten the Y" as Brigham Young University students take a day off, Wednesday, to beautify the campus and the hillside landmark.

Y-day activities include a morning work session, hot lunch, an afternoon program and games, a cake baking contest, crowning of "Most Unpreferred Man," a football game, and a Y-day dance.

All students are to meet at Y Stadium at 7:45 a.m. to begin work, according to Dale Laub and Jeanne Holmes, co-chairmen. Groups will be organized from social units, geographicals, housing units, and unaffiliated members of each class. Each group is asked to bring a sign or banner and to sit together in the stadium to receive assignments. Special classes will be reserved for unaffiliated freshmen, sophomores, juniors, seniors, and faculty members.

Transportation Provided

Cars and buses will be provided to transport groups assigned to work on the mountain to the base of operations. Men will form a chain to pass buckets of white wash up to the Y, and women will help pass down empty buckets, Laub said.

While some men throw white wash and line over the black letter others will be digging erosion trenches to keep water from undermining it. A bulge on one arm of the Y is scheduled to be cut off, Laub said.

Women to Work on Campus

Some women's groups will be working on campus, raking up debris, straightening fences, and beautifying the grounds.

Lunch will be served at the stadium to all who participate in the morning's work, Laub said.

Multistick system has been set up to assure no "sloughers" eat the meal. One ticket will be passed out at the morning assembly and another just before dinner. Both must be presented in order to eat.

Games in the stadium will follow lunch. Dora Bickel, game chairman, has planned unusual relay races and a grassed pig chase. Highlight will be a grudge match tug of war between the animal husbandry departments and political science departments.

Y-Day Loafers To Get Hosing At Lunchtime

"Vigilantes" will return to campus this year empowered to seek out and round up all Y Day "sloughers" and persuade students "by way of a firehose" to join the morning's work.

This group, discontinued two years ago, has been revived as part of Y Day tradition. It was announced by Jack Zenger, vigilante chairman. Both men and women vigilantes have been organized. Most are physical education students and all are able-bodied, Zenger warned.

About 25 will show up in the morning, going through the dorms and parking tennis courts, swimming pools, stores, and other "sloughers" hideouts.

A central dispatching office will be set up in the Clark Service Center basement where students may call to report violators. The number is FR 31940, ext. 331.

"We feel that anyone who shirks Y Day work is so dirty he needs a free hait, and we'll give him one with a fire hose," Zenger asserted. All violators will be brought to the stadium and thoroughly washed down as workers each lunch.

Zenger warned that vigilantes will be checking students for the meal tickets given out at work sites. Anyone who doesn't have both tickets had better be a pretty fast talker because the vigilantes won't be the kind of guys to sit down and counsel with you," he said.

Students are urged to wear their roommates to participate, but Zenger asked that they try not to get too violent with their shirking friends. No mob action is necessary, he cautioned.

Tingey Named New President By Electorate

Wid Tingey, Salt Lake City, was elected by the Brigham Young University studentbody last week to the position of studentbody president, over his opponent, Dave Calvert, Greenville.

Individual election figures will not be published today because "it was decided that since candidates and voters were not forewarned that the results would be published this year," Steve Hale, Brigham Young University editor, said.

Also elected to studentbody of fices in the record-breaking elections (5,132 votes cast, or 80 percent of the studentbody) were Ellen Keeler, Provo, first vice president; John Ward, Leed Beach, Calif., second vice president; Vickie Richards, Salt Lake City, secretary; and Bob Driggs, Stockton, Calif., business manager.

Elected to lead next year's senior class were Ben Blanton, Reno City, Nev., president; Ann Taylor, Garland, vice president; and Elaine McSwain, San Jose, Calif., secretary.

Junior class leaders for 1954-55 are Dallas Reeder, Moore Lake, Wash., president; Vickie Richards, Salt Lake City, vice president; and Pat Christensen, Provo, secretary.

Next year's sophomore class officers are: Jack, Jane Edgington, Lehi, vice president; and Kay Brockbank, San Jose, secretary.

Leadership council representatives next year will be: Jack, Jane Edgington, Lehi, vice president; and Kay Brockbank, San Jose, secretary.

Two More Activities Planned For Women's Week Schedule

Two more activities will complete the round-the-women's week tour of events scheduled for coeds in the annual Women's Week program.

An open-air fashion show Tuesday afternoon and a girls-choice Friday night will complete the series of events for women, according to Kay Crier, Concord, Calif., general chairman.

Two fashion showings are scheduled for the lawn in front of the Eyring Science Center. At well as independents will model recent various social units as well as the school's own designs in their new spring wear. The show will include sport, school, and party wear. Sylvia Whittle, and party wear. Sylvia Whittle,

Elections Group Claims National Vote Record

Brigham Young University elections committee claims a national record for percentage of studentbody voting at universities with enrollments exceeding 2,000 students, according to Dev Jacobs, elections committee chairman.

Five thousand one hundred and thirty-two students voted in the studentbody elections Thursday and Friday, totaling 80 percent of the entire studentbody. This is the highest record for elections held on a BYU campus, stated Jacobs.

Individual class voting was stimulated by challenges which were issued by class officers in Thursday's assembly. Rex Piggard, freshman class president, challenged Reed Jenkins, senior class president, to a class participation contest.

The loser, Jenkins, must drink three raw eggs during the assembly Thursday. Freshman class voting amounted to 88 percent, and only 62 percent of the senior class voted.

Joanne Penrod, Junior class secretary, will later the fate of Terry O'Brien, sophomore class president with a meringue pie during the same assembly period, because the junior class defeated the sophomore class after a similar challenge. Junior class turnout was 88 percent, and that of the sophomores was 82 percent.

Jacobs said, "It would like to make a public apology to Dallas Merrill, newly-elected junior class president, for an announcement which was published in the Friday elections extra that was erroneous. He was completely cleared of any final election violation. I would like to cite him as a perfect example of the cooperative spirit that was a high-light of this election."

Traveler-Teacher To Speak Here During Devotional

Dr. Ethan Colton, widely traveled lecturer on Russian and European policy and problems will speak at Tuesday's devotional assembly, 9:55 a.m. in Smith Fieldhouse, according to Dr. Stewart Groves, devotional chairman.

Dr. Colton was an executive in the YMCA World Service, holding a position which took him into 44 foreign countries and colonies. He spent three years with the American Relief Administration giving famine relief to the Russians. He also worked with the Red Cross during the war.

WELL, I GUESS—Four Brigham Young University coeds gather around a globe to geographically illustrate "It's A Woman's Week," which is the theme of Women's Week this week. The girls (l to r) Kay Pusey, Denver, Colo.; Mary Lou Dillon, Milledale, Ill.; Bonnie Berrett, Seattle, Wash.; and Joan Seymour, Stockton, Calif., join in urging all women to participate in the events.

NO NEED TO KNOW

Last week an editorial appeared in this newspaper entitled "Students Want to Know". The article argued for the release of the editorial staff of this newspaper, the complete tabulations of the election results. An excerpt from that editorial read thus: "... The mere fact that the studentbody desires to know the news of the elections should justify the release of such news."

That statement should have read, "... The mere fact that the studentbody desires to know the news of the elections should justify the release of such news to the Brigham Young Universe editorial staff."

In the Code of Newspaper Ethics adopted by the American Society of Newspaper Editors, Article II states: "Freedom of the Press is to be guarded as a vital right of mankind. It is the unquestionable right to discuss whatever is not explicitly forbidden by law, including the wisdom of any restrictive statute."

It was for this freedom that the Brigham Young Universe staff was fighting. The editorial staff wanted only the right to print vote tabulations. This did not necessarily mean that the results would be printed.

In the next edition of this newspaper on Friday, it was announced that the results would be published in this issue. At this point the fight for Freedom of the Press was almost won. The next day when Dee Jacobs, elections committee chairman walked into the editorial office and, with misgivings, gave the tabulations to the editorial staff of this newspaper, the fight was completely won.

Responsibility for publishing the story then lay completely in the hands of the editorial staff of the Universe. For sheer news value, this was the biggest story of the year, and the Universe staff had won, after a long argument, the right to print it.

But there was one more consideration that had to be made before the story could be published. That consideration is also expressed quite well in the American Society of Newspaper Editors' Code of Ethics. Article VI, Section 1 states: "A newspaper should not invade private rights or feelings without sure warrant of public right as distinguished from public curiosity."

The editorial staff of this newspaper has held that the rights of the entire studentbody exceed those of persons who desire to serve the studentbody in the capacity of a class or executive council officer. Perhaps this was right.

It was held by other persons that the feelings of losing candidates would be badly hurt by the publication of vote tabulations. Perhaps this was right.

When the direct responsibility for publishing the entire election results was in the hands of the editorial staff, where it belonged, it was decided that the tabulations would not be published. Perhaps this was right.

If, by declining to publish these figures, the permanent impairment of the personality of any losing candidate was avoided, then there can be no doubts that ... this was right.

Muscle Men Needed

by "Duke" George — ASBYU President

Compliments to two outstanding groups—the Elections Committee for their unparalleled work, and the Y Day Committee for planning a splendid program that you will all enjoy tomorrow. This is a traditional affair and one that you don't want to miss. Last year we had to use the help of some of the girls on the mountain because the men didn't turn out in sufficient numbers. One fellow told me he would have cussed all morning about the neglectful men if it hadn't been that there were girls on either side of him passing pills of white wash up and down the hill. Let's not let this happen again, men. Let's have a good time and do a great job. And girls, there is plenty on campus to keep you in the science of "psycho-ceramics." This is a science dedicated to the study of crack pots, and I must admit that the interpersonal is true. We have sometimes questioned the rationality of some people's thinking.

Crack Pots

I would like to make several comments about the editorial entitled, "Students Want to Know," which appeared in last week's Thursday Universe. It is regrettable that the writer had not at that time obtained all of the pertinent information, because the Tuesday prior to the publishing of the editorial, the Elections Committee had voted by a 14 vote in favor of printing the numerical data from the elections. Although this was frowned upon by a majority of the Executive Council and Cabinet, (there was a division of thinking in both of these bodies), we felt unwise administration not to allow appointed bodies to make some of the more important decisions. My question when approached with the idea of publishing the numerical results was then, and still is, "What good will it do to the operation of the studentbody as a whole?" I think

Of course, the controversy could be true if the margin were very narrow and if the candidate didn't know, persons have a strange tendency to always suppose the best, and although rumors might be circulated, people usually believe the rumors they want to believe, and that makes them feel the best.

Something Distinctive

I felt that this was something that made Brigham Young University distinctive and different and showed that we had regard for the individual and his feelings. I thought this was quite different than elections on a national scale where the candidates are professional and are paid thousands of dollars for their service. Although the possibility of someone being severely and affected by such an event is remote, at least it is a possibility, and why take the risk if it isn't necessary or if it ultimately isn't going to do a lot of good to the studentbody.

I thought of someone getting 3,000 votes to 50 of their opponent and the effect that this may have in discouraging a person from the fine experience that comes with elections. If such an act were to affect negatively the life of one person, I didn't think and still don't think it is worth answering the curiosity that most people wouldn't consider without the question being posed.

Swan Song ...

Dear Editor,
 In my obituary appearing in the Universe I was assigned for early education to the Brigham Young Academy of Logan, Utah. As a son of the Brigham Young College of Logan, Utah, I return from the grave in spectral protest against the assignment. As the name of my old school suggests, Brigham Young College was founded by Brigham Young. And as evidence of his serious intention he endowed the school with land in what is now known as College Ward, south of Logan.

When I entered the school, it was offering complete high school and college training, and had a rather distinguished faculty. As a very green greener from Roblin, Idaho, I was overwhelmed and completely subdued by its seeming magnificence. In the years that followed, my awe changed to a deep loyalty and affection, which I still feel. Life for me began at Brigham Young College. There I played basketball, edited magazines and yearbooks, strutted the college stage, found satisfying friends, discovered my wife, and spoke valedictorials.

And it was there that I later had some of the most glorious years of my teaching experience.

Memories, I know, are treacherous reporters of the past. They forget the bad and glorify the good. So out beyond the clouds of the immediate moment, I may too easily see my years at Brigham Young College as a bright Golden Age, as a time especially friendly to the standards and values I cherish most, as a time uniquely congenial and thorough-going to the mind and spirit.

So, my fellow students of the "Y," do you mind standing while a diminishing number of us honor Brigham Young College, while a few cracked voices sing "Where the bright crimson banner floats free in the air?"
 Parley A. Christensen

Challenge ...

Dear Editor,
 The following letter is an open letter to the Blue Key, "Gloria Grubbers," from the Intercollegiate Knights, the intercollegiate organization worthy of bearing the name of service unit. Blue Key.

You are hereby challenged by the hardest working group of fellows on any or any other campus to a tug-of-war on Y Day, which is established as the day you are out of bed by 2 p.m.

Due to our numerical and muscular superiority we will arrange a satisfactory balance of forces. This will probably be a ratio of about one IX to three Blue Keys.

We will be there at 2 p.m. and dare you show up.

We on the Intercollegiate Knights will continue the tradition as established last year of providing the annual bath for the Blue Keys.

Yours in service,

Kia Ora Club To Perform For Students

Kia Ora Club of Brigham Young University, recently returned from the 21st annual International Folk Festival in St. Louis, Mo., will perform for the BYU studentbody April 30, according to David Jensen, club vice president from Burley, Idaho.

Dances, rituals, and war chants of the New Zealand Maori culture were included in the four-day folk festival. The 30 regular club members, composed of returned missionaries and students interested in the Maori culture, will perform in an audience of returned missionaries and students here as was given April 13-16 in the Kiel Auditorium, St. Louis.

Postponement of the club's scheduled April 13 presentation to Latter-day Saint church members in St. Louis, was caused by involvement in an accident near Denver, Colo., in which no one was hurt, said Jensen. The club performed for church members after the festival, April 15, before returning home to meet another schedule of church and school obligations which have previously taken them throughout the western United States.

Last Call, Gown Order Mailed This Week

Last orders for seniors' caps and gowns will be mailed this week. The order was mailed April 16 on the deadline, but about two hundred names were not on it. Students who do not order this week may not be able to get their cap and gown for graduation, Neil McKnight, bookstore manager, said today.

Name cards must also be ordered now to be delivered in time to mail for graduation.

Department Head To Leave Post After Long Service

Professor Evan Croft will end his 17 years of service as chairman of the Department of Secretarial Practice next Autumn quarter, President Ernest L. Wilkinson announced.

President Wilkinson said the change of chairmanship for the secretarial practice department is in accordance with the new BYU organizational system which rotates chairmanships every three years.

Professor Croft's successor will be named soon, President Wilkinson stated. The President added that professor Croft will maintain a full teaching load.

Well-known in national business education, Professor Croft is co-author of three texts. The texts are Personality in Business and Life, Direct Approach to Speed and Accuracy in Typing, and Direct and Natural Typewriting. Also he has written numerous magazine articles for professional publications.

He was educated in Millard County schools and obtained the bachelor of science degree at BYU in 1925. He received his master's degree of science in business education at University of Southern California in 1940. He joined the BYU staff in 1936 and has taught two summers at the University of Southern California in graduate classes in education. In 27 years of teaching at BYU and in high schools, he has never missed a day because of illness.

He was president of the Western Business Education Association in 1951-52; national director of the United Business Education Association, 1953-54; and is a member of Phi Delta Kappa, a national educational fraternity; Pi Omega Pi, a business fraternity; and Delta Pi Epsilon, a national honorary graduate fraternity in business education.

Honor Discussion Announced Subject In Speech Contest

Value of the honor system at Brigham Young University will be up for discussion in a speech contest during Honor Education Week, April 26-May 1.

Contest chairman, Beverly Gearheart, Toppensish, Wash., announced the theme of the speeches and invited all students to participate. The contest is tentatively set for Thursday's student body assembly.

Purpose of the contest is to hear genuine evaluations of the system and any constructive criticism or new ideas, Miss Gearheart said. The contest is sponsored by Stenger Honors, freshman honor boosters club.

Long, Long Trail ...

'Traditionalists' Discontented With Y Road-Building Rumor

All roads on Y Mountain do not lead to the Y, but one does lead halfway up and will be used to haul heavy Y-day materials, according to Leland M. Perry, Physical Plant supervisor.

A tractor trail has been dredged up to a ledge south of the Y and almost on the same level. Y-day committee recommended the project to make it possible for a base of operations to be established at the ledge rather than at the foot of the mountain. The new base will allow students to work with a horizontal bucket grade line rather than a vertical one.

The trail terminates at the ledge and will not be connected now to any existing trails beyond that point, Perry said. Some students had expressed concern that a road would be built up to the Y, eliminating the traditional mountain-climbing work day.

Perry explained that the trail will make possible several projects that have never been tried on Y-day because of difficulties of carrying materials up the mountain. He briefly outlined a conservation and beautification program of planting grass and shrubs on barren spots.

Selections Group Seeks Chairman For Honor Council

Selection of next year's honor council chairman will be made in the near future, Gordon Conger, present honor council chairman, announced.

The decision will be made by a selections committee composed of President Ernest L. Wilkinson, Lloyd George, student body president; Dr. Henry Isakson, student body coordinator; Conger, and three members of the legislative council.

All candidates for the position must have a grade point average of at least 2.0, and be members of the junior, senior or graduate classes.

Responsibility of the honor council chairman will be to direct the activities of the honor council, propagate the honor system, and carry out the duties of a legislative council member, stated Conger. He added that the job is extremely time-consuming.

'Swell' Treatment Given to Victim Of Rattlesnake Bite

Jay B. Karren, Vernal, zoology laboratory employee, is now back at work after a tangle with one of his charges, a rattlesnake kept for a lab specimen.

Karren was removing the snake from its cage to clean the cage. He took hold too far be hind the head and the snake reached around and bit his thumb.

Treatment at the Student Health Center with specially-oriented snake-bite serum prevented any serious effects, according to doctors.

Karren now considers the cure worse than the illness. The serum caused a six-day reaction in which his arms, feet, and lips swelled to twice normal size and a rash broke out. Adrenalin and antihistamines were used to stop the effects.

All Banyan Payoffs Due Before May 6

Brigham Young University students will have until May 4 to pay their Banyan payments, Bob Sipherd, business manager, announced this week.

VAL HYKIC members will meet Wednesday at the football stadium press box for Y Day participation. Jerry Griffiths was elected unit treasurer for the remainder of the year. He replaces Sam Hammond who has accepted a mission call.

Bill Matthews, Boise, Ida., is the newly elected SAXON KING business manager. Meeting will be Thursday at 7 p.m. in 214 McKay Building. Plans will be discussed for the coming activities.

Ann Brown is the Y Day chairman for VAL NOBY unit. A fashion show at Clark's for Her will be Thursday at 8 p.m. "Roman Holiday" is the theme for this event. Jane Harrison is chairman, and Barbara Marzham and Helen Wood are on the committee. Girls are requested to bring their mothers.

Clark Rogers is rush and institution chairman for ATHLETIC unit. The drawing for the shirt will be Thursday at the meeting.

FIDELAS will have an important meeting Thursday in 245 Smith Building at 7 p.m. Members are urged to attend.

VIKINGS will meet Wednesday at 7:45 a.m. in rows 3 and 4 at the stadium. Fines of 50 cents an hour will be levied on all who fail to appear for work on the "X."

LANCERS will have a canyon party April 28. Plans are being discussed for a fireside for May 1.

BREDAIERS will have their weekly meeting Wednesday in 214 McKay Building at 7 p.m. All members are urged to attend the swimming party Saturday.

Those participating are to meet at 765 N 4 East at 7:30 p.m. Dinner-dance is scheduled for May 14.

INTERCOLLEGIATE KNIGHTS invite all alumni and inactive members to participate in the annual Y Day party to be held on the evening of April 27. Activities will include lighting the Y, torchlight parade, and a party at the base of the mountain, said Dwight Potter, chairman.

Missionary Maidens Form New Club; Hold Open House

Y's Missionary Maidens will conduct their first open house April 28 at 8:30 p.m. The heels and hose affair will be in Penrose Hall, Family Life Unit No. 8, and will mark the beginning of the first organization of this kind on Brigham Young University campus.

Purpose of this organization, said Marlene Knight, president, is to form a group where girls who are seriously waiting for a missionary may have companionship with other girls in similar position. This is to be a religious organization and is for spiritual, cultural, and social development of the members.

First meeting was held last Monday night and twenty girls participated in the organization of the club. There will be another meeting May 4 at Penrose Hall. The Charter meeting is scheduled for May 11 and will be a formal affair.

Mrs. T. Earl Pardoos and Mrs. Henry L. Laakson have been contacted and have accepted the duty of sponsors for the newly organized club pending the administrative approval.

Susan's Musin's

Dear Aunt Susan,

Why is it that boys strongly insist that they are more fond of girls with long flowing locks and yet persistently date the slick chicks with short coiffures?

Carolyn

I can only point out that boys usually do not marry the kind of girls they persistently date, nor those they ogle in bikinis, nor those they elect "queens," nor those who exude their personality to tyrant Fashion. That doesn't, however, help solve the problem at present. I personally advocate taking the "long view" of things.

ASP

Dear Aunt Susan,

My girl seems to think it a real cute trick to take her shoes off at dances. I didn't mind at first, but it is getting tiresome to have to hunt them up after every affair. It is also getting a bit embarrassing. How can I cure this chick of this habit?

Dan

Dear Dan, Easiest problem yet—step sharply on her toes.

This End Of The Bench

by Dave Gordon

Like Father, Like Son

Last Thursday's issue of the Universe carried the remarkable story of Buck Dixon's tennis triumphs. This past weekend found his son Richard, a senior at B.Y. High, break his father's record and become the first Class B High School tennis star to ever win the championship three years in a row.

It was quite surprising to note that the local paper did not mention the fact that this was the first time the tennis crown had been won three times in a row. To win a championship three times running is a feat worth mentioning in most cases.

It's Off to Yes

Congratulations are in order to the fine job done by those in charge of the B.Y.U. Invitational. To have the events run off in such good order and almost to the minute as pre-scheduled is a rather remarkable feat. Considering that some 2,462 athletes took part it shows fine cooperation and management from all involved. This meet is considered to be the largest of its kind, combined college and high school, in the world.

You cannot go bear hunting with a switch or you cannot draw frys with vinegar. This was the statement by Peashead Walker, ex-Wake Forest coach. This is in reference to Utah getting those Pearl (Poison) Pollard and Jack Mannion, two of the finest prospects from the state in many moons. No criticism meant toward Coach Stan Watts, realizing that you cannot get things at the store for the old man unless he gives you money to buy it with.

We do not advocate buying players as such, but it is a shame to see the majority of the local athletes who are fine students go to other schools and end up competing against the Y.

Let us pull our standards of athletics up to conference levels and give the football and basketball teams an even break as compared with other schools in the conference.

Track and Field Records Tumble In Annual BYU Invitational Meet

by Jack Smith, — Universe Sports Writer

Despite wet weather Friday, Saturday dawned a beautiful day and the 42nd Annual Brigham Young University Relays were declared a success by the officials of the meet.

With six new records in the books and many sparkling all-around performances, the 2,000 odd participants of the big clunderfest can well be proud of themselves.

Some of the best performances were scored in the Jack-of-all-trades division, the All-Around Athletes. Jim Darnell, the winner of the big first place trophy, posted a new javelin mark with a throw of 180 ft. 1 in. The old record of 171 ft. 11 in. was held by Rex Berry of Carbon, now a professional football star with the San Francisco 49ers.

Tieing two marks and nearing several others was fleet Calvin Wiggins of Elko, Nev. Wiggins tied the 100-yard dash standard set by Nate Long, now track coach at South Utah, running the century in 10 flat over Friday's soggy track. The Nevada ace also equaled the low hurdle mark set by Mel Wilkes in 1954 by topping the sticks in 20.5.

Over The Top!

Look for the Spalding "Tennis Twins" Wherever Top Tennis Is Played

There are good reasons why Spalding's tennis twins are used in more major tennis tournaments than all other tennis balls combined.

Top players want a tennis ball that can take rough treatment... and give uniform performance set after set. They pick the Spalding and the Spalding-made Wright & Ditson over all others for uniform wear and better bounce qualities.

Put the best ball in play for your best game. The pick of top tennis men... Spalding's famous tennis twins.

SPALDING

SETS THE PACE IN SPORTS

Ecclipsing another record in the all-around division was burly Wayne Ash of Pleasant Grove when he pegged the shot 487' to break the mark of Payson's Jack Jensen, set in 1955.

South Leads Class A

South High School's Cubs dominated the A high schools with six firsts while close behind were East and Las Vegas. Neil Schmitt, South's star, scored a twin win in copping the broad jump and pole vault. Dave Parker, big Las Vegas product, also claimed two events, winning the 120 yard high hurdles and the high jump. Parker set a new record in the high sticks with a time of 14.8.

Pearl "Poison" Pollard of Jordan also set a new mark in the discus with a toss of 153'4".

Alvie Carter, another wing footed sprinter from the same school, singled the clinders with a blistering 22 flat in the 220, while teammate Joe Smith had the fastest 88 time of the day with 2:03.7.

Cedar City Tops in "B"

The Cedar City Redmen took home a lion's share of the trophies as their sprinters and distance man dominated the field in these events.

Cedar grabbed first, third and fifth in the 100 yard dash, took first and second in the 220, won the half mile and took the blue ribbon in the mile medley relay.

One of the best marks of the day was posted when Bear Allen of B.B. Y. High ran the mile in 4:46. Dennis Krueger of Cody, Wyo., set a new record in the shot put with a heave of 52' 11". Chris Nenzel of Elko and Roe Smith of Bryce Valley went up to 5'11" in the high jump to garner honors there.

Special Events Thrill

The large Saturday afternoon crowd was thrilled by the special exhibition events staged by performers from the Los Angeles Athletic Club and the BYU track team.

Bob Smith of the LAAC provided one of the biggest thrills of the afternoon when he lofted himself over 14'9" in the pole vault and barely missed at 15 feet when his pole hit the cross bar. Smith was opposed in this event by Louis Chatterly, BYU team captain, who missed at 14 feet.

In the mile, Jim Terrill of Los Angeles, just overtook Sherald James of BYU in the last 200 yards to win his event in the time of 4:22.6. Wayne Lundell and Walt Steffensen of BYU followed James.

One of the home boys nearly stole the thunder from the visiting big names as BYU's own Charles "Pinkie" Higgins left the javelin 227', bettering the existing Skyline record by several feet and barely missing setting a new state mark.

Stares Nine Firsts

Rick Stiles of Idaho dominated the junior college division by taking nine first place in both track and field events. The only record of the day was set by Wayne Barney of Elko when he cracked the two mile record with the time of 10:31.2.

Preview . . .

Gridders Clash in Y Day Fray

by Ken Clayton

Universe Sports Editor
A preview of the 1955 edition of Brigham Young's football team will be obtained tomorrow night at the E Stadium at 6:30, when the Blue-White inter-squad fracas will be played as part of the Y Day ceremonies. A large crowd is expected.

Coach Charles "Chick" Atkinson has been optimistic over his squad's appearance in recent practice sessions. Many performers have looked outstanding at their respective positions and display strong promise for next year's team.

The Cougars have been particularly blessed in that no serious injuries have occurred thus far, as only a few sprains have appeared.

Quarterback Replacements
A big question mark facing the Brigham mentor was uncovering adequate quarterback replacements. Dick Olson, who broke his leg last year, has been outstanding in practice, especially with his pin-point accuracy on passes. George Pinkney, Don Dixon, and Carroll Johnston are also bidding for the all-important signal-calling slot.

Several of last year's frosh eleven have looked fine in their bids for varsity positions. Such players as Bill Matthews, Roy Bennion, Fred Leavitt, Jack Clark, and Paul Dalebout have distinguished themselves on the forward wall.

Yearling backfield standouts are Ralph Migliaccio, LeGrand Young, and Jack Hilton. In addition to the quarterback prospects Dixon, Johnston, and Pinkney.

Many of last year's football club have also been distinguishing themselves in the scrimmage sessions conducted by Atkinson.

Spring Sports Tilts Postponed

Rain forced a postponement of the scheduled athletic events between Brigham Young and Utah State last week at Logan. All events have been scheduled for future dates.

Coach Dave Crowton's basebalers, sporting a 1-3 league record, will square off against the undefeated Utahs at Logan on May 18. The Beeslie State rivals will clash in a double-header.

The Farmers have won both of their league clashes over Montana, giving them the second place rung in the circuit behind Utah, and are expected to stir up plenty of trouble for division teams this year.

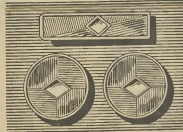

BYU travels to Missoula for a Friday twin bill with the Grizzlies. The Cats split with Montana when the teams met at Provo earlier this month. In order to remain in title contention, the Cougars must win both tilts in the Grizzly lair.

In golf, the Cats are riding the crest of the division with wins against Montana and Utah. Brigham Young topped the Missoulaans 13½ to 4½ while defeating the Redskins 12-6.

Football at 6:30

An intersquad football game is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Half-time ceremonies will include announcement of participation winners. Units will be judged both on number of workers and on an evaluation of work accomplished. Social units will be given points toward the AMS and AWS service trophies.

Final event of the day is the Y-Day dance following the game. Dancing will be under the stars at the Rainbow Gardens patio directly west of the stadium. Plans include having three types of dance music played at once, with ballroom, square, and jitterbug dancers in separate portions of the floor, according to Laub. Dress is very informal with students advised to come just as they were from work at the Y.

IK's to Light Y

During the dance the Intercollegiate Knights will make their traditional trek to the Y to light the newly polished letter. The IK's and their dates will then make the annual torchlight parade down the mountain to have a party at the base.

Dorm hours have all been extended until 11:30 Wednesday night, Laub announced.

Two Competitions Slated Wednesday As Y Day Features

Two studentbody competitions, a cake baking contest and selection of "Unpreferred Man," will be included in Wednesday's Y Day program.

All coeds and any men who bake are asked to enter a cake in the contest, to be judged on the basis of texture, flavor, and originality. First prize will be a steam iron, and second and third prizes will be cash, according to Marian Green, cake chairman.

Cakes are to be brought to the stadium house at the 7:45 a.m. work meeting. After judging, the cakes will be served as part of the lunch. Prizes will be awarded during halftime of the intersquad football game, 6:45 p.m.

Any man on campus except the 13 "Preferred Men" chosen at last fall's Preference Ball will be eligible to enter the unpreferred man contest, according to Gene Allen, chairman. Applications or nominations may be turned in to the student coordinator's office. Voting will be by applause during the football game halftime. Two attendants will also be chosen.

Studentbody Prexy, Prexy-Elect To Leave for Boulder Parley

Lloyd "Duke" George, studentbody president, and Dr. Henry L. Isakson, will fly to Boulder, Colo., this weekend to attend a convention of the National Students' Association, according to George. He stated membership in the association for Brigham Young University was being considered. Wid Tingley, president-elect, will accompany the pair, said George.

Purpose of the trip will be to observe the NSA at its convention which is being held this Friday and Saturday at Colorado, George said. BYU is presently a member of the PSPA (Pacific Studentbody Presidents Association), he said, and a comparison of the two organizations will be made.

George related that a number of reliable sources have stated the many advantages of membership in the NSA, and Dr. Wesley P. Lloyd, dean of students, has expressed interest in the prestige of the group. It is one of the leading college organizations in the country, said George, and careful study is being made on it before official action of joining is taken.

The BYU trio will attend panel discussions which deal with problems at the various member universities. He stated a similar conference conducted by the PSPA will be attended next month in San Diego, so a good comparison can be made.
